

Ind. 13-86

1
Received & Inspected

June 23, 2013

JUL 01 2013

Justin Ingalls
FCC Mail Room 5 Van Dyke
Oconto, Wis. 54153
E-mail
justiningalls@centurylink.net
phone 920-834-4768

FCC Enforcement Bureau
Investigation & Hearing Division
445 12th Street, S.W.
Washington, DC 20554

Dear Sir/Ma'am:

This letter is in complaint of the ongoing injury by Wisconsin Public Television of the public mores and its violation of what was, and if our national government has yet the slightest claim to integrity, honesty, duty or morality, still is, the law.

On June 22, 2013 at 3:00 PM and again at 11:00 PM. Wisconsin Public Television Home Theater broadcast the movie, Much Ado About Nothing. About the time the opening credits ended they showed, from the back, total nudity of ten or more men.

I did not watch the movie beyond that point. Yes, pornography has permeated several venues in the entertainment and information domains. Still, someone needs to take a stand if we are to have a chance as viable, law-abiding society. And yes, the politicians of both political parties in Washington, DC, many regulators, the Chief Executive, Supreme Court members and their billionaire benefactors have morphed into what is more an organized crime syndicate than a legitimate governing body.

Regardless of what forms of obfuscation or justification the promoters of pornography take, in this case of the soft porn variety, the illicit scenes were written by a scriptwriter, acted by men contracted with and paid for their participation, directed, photographed and edited. There is nothing spontaneous or real-world about it. It is a product made for sale and profit.

If you know anything much about our national founding era, when our constitution and Bill of Rights were enacted and ratified, such public indecency was illegal. It had no constitutional protections and it cannot legitimately have the protection of the government now.

I understand the FCC lost a case concerning profanity some time ago and, "...the high court ruled the FCC's indecency standards were 'impermissibly vague.'" Well, if you are not to be a shame, disgrace and cancer to the American people, make the rules specific. Is it too hard for you? I am a retired blue collar worker and I can provide explicit language for any possible excess in the radio and television broadcasting industry. If you have the need I will provide the necessary language gratis. Just describe the problems to be solved.

When the majority on the US Supreme Court make rulings that are clear violations of the word and spirit of our constitution, they should be considered as committing criminal acts and should be made to answer. Long ago I worked out language for an Amendment to the US Constitution that would bring to an end the criminal acts of all government members, elected, hired or appointed.

I know you cannot overrule the US Supreme Court but neither do you need to look for ways to help move a badly declining society into a condition God will no longer tolerate.

Perhaps you have not given much thought or study to God and His creation. I can tell you, the God of Abraham, of Isaac, of Jacob is the Creator God. Of this there can be no reasonable doubt. From ancient prophesy through modern history that fact is well established. Proving that Jesus is the Messiah sent by the God of Abraham for the redemption of sin is less certain. There are some strong evidences for Jesus as the Messiah, however.

The New Testament book of Romans was written by the Apostle Paul to the Christian enclave in Rome concerning Christian duties and warned of human tendencies, temptations, lusts and consequences.

Romans 1:18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness;

Romans 1:20 ...they are without excuse;

Romans 1:22 Professing themselves to be wise they became fools,

Romans 1:26 For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use to that which is against nature:

Romans 1:27 And likewise men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly,...

Romans 1:32 Who knowing the judgment of God, that they that commit such things are worthy of death,...

This refers to the second death spoken of in The Revelation of John, the last book of the New Testament.

Revelation 20:10 And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone where the beast and false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever.

Revelation 20:12 And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened,...

Revelation 20:13 ...and they were judged every man according to their works.

Revelation 20:14 And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death.

In The Revelation of John, which reputedly was delivered to John the Apostle by Jesus on the Island of Patmos about 96 AD, there is a large amount of prophesy that depicts conditions late in the history we are living now. That prophesy combined with the amalgamation of Old Testament prophesy with the life of Jesus provides considerable evidence to the veracity of Jesus claim to Deity. Another fact, that one of the most singular people in history was as Christian as is possible to be and who's life was one of numerous miracles and visitations of messengers from God, strengthens the first.

Beside twice being the Prime Minister of Great Briton and a great wartime leader, Winston Churchill was a Nobel Prize winning historian. Of the singular person referred to in the above paragraph, an illiterate teen age peasant girl, he wrote,

"There now appeared upon the ravaged scene an Angel of Deliverance, the noblest patriot of France, the most splendid of her heroes, the most beloved of her saints, the most inspiring of all her memories, the peasant Maid, the ever-shining, ever-glorious Joan of Arc,"

A page or two farther he wrote,

"Joan was a being so uplifted from the ordinary run of mankind that she finds no equal in a thousand years. The records of her trial present us with facts alive today through all the mists of time. Out of her own mouth can she be judged in each generation. She embodied the natural goodness and valor of the human race in unexampled perfection. Unconquerable courage, infinite compassion, the virtue of the simple, the wisdom of the just, shone forth in her. She glorifies as she freed the soil from which she sprang. All soldiers should read her story and ponder on the words and deeds of the true warrior, who in one single year, thought untaught in technical arts, reveals in every situation the key of victory."

There is a glaring fact that winds throughout the Bible, the life of Joan of Arc and all recorded history; God is exceedingly severe. "He is a God of love," someone might exclaim. Well, yes, to those who seek Him and to those He receives. For those who repent of sin (turn away from it) and accept His offer and enter Heaven there will no doubt be wonders beyond imagining, provided through love. It will be as fine for them as the Lake of Fire will be unendurable for others.

The lessons of this life as well as history speak to the severity of God. Joan of Arc herself, about as perfect a Christian as a person could be, had a troubled conscience after the end of her two month trial. To escape execution by burning she acquiesced in a seemingly minor matter to her primary prosecutor and judge, Bishop Caushon. After some days Joan reversed her position claiming she feared the possibility of hell (the lake of fire) more than death by fire. On May 30, 1431 Joan was tied to a stake and burned to death.

Joan, by virtue of the many heavenly messengers she received over the span of several years must have had knowledge of the nature of God that no one else could have. If a death by fire was demanded of her what are we to expect? Surly we are expected to desist from lives of satiating unbridled lusts or encouraging others to sin. Excuses and justifications are abundant now but at the Judgment Day of God nowhere will they be found.

Promoters of pornography and every other violation of basic, well understood morality will be with us to Judgment Day itself, I suppose. However, they should be informed of the degree of eternal danger they place themselves in. When the books are opened at the Judgment Seat of God everyone who has been part of promoting, participating in or accommodating acts condemned by God will be in an unbelievably bad situation, "...and shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever," Jesus informed John the Apostle so long ago.

Marginal or bad Supreme Court decisions may often be ameliorated through further legislation or well written regulations. Try, people. Try. Your duty does not reach the height and depth of that of the Supreme Court Justices, the Chief Executive or congressmen, but when you took your job you took on high duty nonetheless. For me to make a difference my amendment proposal must miraculously be implemented or God must bless my efforts through letters. You do not need a miracle to make a difference. To do what is right may require sacrifice but doing wrong has a price too. Please try.

Sincerely

Justin Ingalls

PS You may have realized that Wisconsin Public Television acting as though law and morality cannot limit them is, perhaps, the thing I write least about. Eternity is so abstract, yet it will become everything to all of us. Though I do not know how I will fare, I do hope my efforts will make that coming condition tolerable, even pleasurable to someone.